An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evedence about the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. The procedures selected depend on the auditors' judgment, including the assessment of the risk of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditors consider internal control relevant to the financial statements in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumtances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity's internal control. An audit also include evauating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonablesness of accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements.
